

A large crowd of people is gathered at night for a protest. In the foreground, a large white banner is held across the crowd. The banner features the text "Contre les violences policières" in large red letters. Below this, on the left, is a logo consisting of the number "100" with a scale of justice and a raised fist integrated into the zeros. To the right of the logo is the website "Stop-repression.be" in black text. The crowd behind the banner is dense, with many people looking towards the camera. Several flags are visible, including a large white flag with a red cross and a red flag with a white cross. A small sign in the crowd reads "Nous ne payerons SAC pas!". The background shows city lights and buildings.

Contre les violences policières

Stop-repression.be

